

The Education Professional Standards Board and all of our educator preparation programs appreciate your willingness to support educator preparation by serving as a cooperating teacher. As teachers ourselves, we share your interest in developing the best teachers for Kentucky's children.

Kentucky is recognized as a national leader in preparing effective educators and supporting the teaching profession; the 2012 Quality Counts report by Education Week ranked Kentucky 5th among the states in the Teaching Profession, an index that includes many factors related to teacher preparation, support, and performance.

Like preparation for many other professions, educator preparation relies on practicing professionals to provide experiences for pre-service teachers. Although it is doubtful any pre-service experience can fully prepare a new teacher for that first day in front of his or her own class, high quality clinical experiences are critical for achieving the best preparation possible. Your role in providing those experiences is essential. Thank you for your willingness to serve as a cooperating teacher and to contribute to our profession by guiding, mentoring, and supporting a pre-service teacher.

To ensure that you are aware of the expectations set out for educator preparation programs, student teachers, and cooperating teachers regarding the student teaching experience, we have prepared a review of key portions of the regulation governing student teaching in Kentucky, 16 KAR 5:040. A short assessment is included in this module to ensure the information was provided in a way that enabled you to understand all the expectations. You will need to print out the attachment, which includes the text of 16 KAR 5:040 and the explanatory notes: Some of the questions refer to the explanatory notes. You are welcome to refer to this information as you complete the assessment. A score of 100% is required. If a 100% is not received the first time, you may take any of the posted assessments in Edmodo until you receive an 18/18.

The assessment is located on the University Supervisors page in Edmodo. Section A of below provides directions for creating an EPSB account to receive a certificate of completion once an 18/18 is earned. Section B will provide the directions for creating an Edmodo account, accessing the 16 KAR 5:040 text and explanation document (in case you did not receive the document through email), accessing the quiz, and viewing your results.
